Abstract

Suvarnabhumi Medical Center is medical service center which provides a medical service for employees who work at the airport such as staff of AOT Company, staff of airline, staff of King Power Company, Aeronautical Radio of Thailand Company and all of passengers at Suvarnabhumi Airport. There are a high technology medical supplier and high effective staff.

For all of these reasons made me interested in this place for my cooperative program.

I would like to start my internship there because I hope the clinic will give me good experiences and give me right position.

Finally, I was an intern student. I worked at the clinic, my responsibilities are asking basic symptoms of patients when they come to see the doctor, supporting the nurse to clean patient wound and I have a lot of duties at the clinic.

Since, I started working there I had faced many problems and I tried to solve it. For example, one problem that really hard for me was when the angry patients came and told something about the symptoms. They were angry and spoke fast. I didn't understand what they said. So I told them 'just a moment please' and I called the nurse to help to communicate with the patient.

At of work, there are many problems, it is look like a test for me on my work. It makes me stronger and better. In the future if I get a work at another place, I think I can solve the problems because the co-operative gives me a lot of experience at work.
