Abstract

Title	The Elderly Health Care by Family and Communities
Name	Sittawut Kontong
Major	B.A. in English for Business Communication
Faculty	School of Liberal Arts
Year	2019

The Thai Red Cross is a national charity organization. Humanitarian action according to the International Red Cross principles is an organization that is dynamic and innovative with a vision to move forward to excellence and according to the vision of the Thai Red Cross, which is relief, welfare, disease treatment, elimination of disasters for the benefit of the people and the refuge of the people.

HRH Princess Maha Chakri Sirindhorn Princess Maha Chakri Sirindhorn Mr.Aenika, director of the Thai Red Cross Society His Highness Bestowed the name of the Elderly Rehabilitation Center Building "Thepparat Karun Building" was built to support the elderly population in Chonburi province and nearby provinces by providing health services, treatment, care, promotion and comprehensive disease prevention for the elderly society with good quality of life.

From working in the cooperative education project "Elderly Health Promotion Center Thepparat building I was assigned to perform duties in the Assistant Department, which oversees the service. By preparing a report on health care for the elderly by families and communities For the purpose of studying the effectiveness of elderly care and applying various technologies to help reduce dependency and entry into the elderly care facility before necessity.

The results of the study can be summarized as follows:

1. Long-term care for the elderly in the family and the community, mainly for the care of community kinship
2. Factors related to the quality of life of the elderly are health and financial factors and the availability of caregivers

SPU CHONBURI